

A Story

This is a story about a young girl who lived in a big house with her family. Her name was Katy Collen and she was fifteen years old. Katy had only one younger brother. Katy and her brother were very spoiled because their parents loved both of them very much and they would give both of them whatever they asked for. Katy used to order her brother to do stuff for her because she was older than him. They usually had a lot of fights but they had a lot of love for each other too. Katy was a high school student. But she wasn't just a normal student, she became one of those infamous and naughty students. Katy was still very nice when she was like those normal students, but when she started to go with the popular students, she ditched all her old friends who were nice and kind. Katy then started to bully other students, she even bullied her old friends. So this is Katy Collen, one of the infamous students and a bully.

One day when Katy was dismissed from school, she went home with all her friends. When Katy got back home, she opened the door and pushed the door so hard that it made a loud "bang". No one was at home. Mom and Dad were at work and her brother had basketball training. So, Katy took off her bag and threw it on the chair while she lay down on the sofa. She was so relaxed and then she said, "Oh, thank God I'm at home all alone, at last." Still talking to herself, "I don't know what I would do if that stupid freak was here." She meant her younger brother. Katy then took the remote control and turned on the television. There was nothing on that she liked or anything interesting. So she was very bored and she quietly dozed off. Then she fell asleep.

Now Katy started dreaming. "Katy, hurry up you're getting late for school," her mom shouted. Katy noticed that her mom was getting angry at her. "Come here and pack your lunch," her mom shouted again from inside the kitchen. Katy thought why her mom was shouting like that to her. "There is something wrong," thought Katy. "Mom is everything all right?" asked Katy. "Everything's all right, but can you just hurry up?" her mom shouted again. "Okay, okay," said Katy getting annoyed. Then Katy's mom gave her lunch. She pushed Katy out of the house and said, "Come home early!" And she closed the door on Katy's face. Katy thought her mom was acting very weird and rude. Then, she said to herself "Oh, forget it".

Katy soon reached school. There she saw her group of new friends waiting inside. She ran to them because she thought it was so kind of them to wait for her. Then all of them started walking away. Katy yelled, "Hey, wait! Where are you guys going? I thought that you were waiting for me." Then her friends replied, "No, we weren't. Who are you? Oh my God, you look so dumb and nerdy. We don't like hanging around with students like you. Just get lost!" All of them shouted. Then all of them left, they were very proud because they were very popular. This was Katy's problem too. Katy thought there was something wrong because everyone was acting so rude and weird to her. Then she thought maybe it was her unlucky day. Suddenly, she saw a bunch of students in groups coming towards her, they were all her new popular friends again. She thought maybe they were coming back for her. But she was wrong. All of them surrounded her and started bullying her. One of them said, "Oh, look at her, she look so scared. Don't worry we won't beat you up. Ha, Ha, Ha..." all of them started laughing at her and then they left. Katy felt so embarrassed after all of them were gone. "How would they bully me? We all used to bully other students instead." Everyone was so mean to her now.

Katy saw her old friends at lunch time, they were going to pass by her when suddenly she stopped them. They all thought that Katy was bullying them again, so they didn't stop. But Katy begged them and told them she was sorry. They all said, "You should be!" Katy asked them if they wanted to be her friends again, but they didn't reply and left.

Finally, the students were dismissed and Katy went home all alone. She felt so lonely and regretful. Soon at home the door opened but Katy didn't notice because she was asleep. Suddenly, she heard someone saying, "Hey, Katy wake up." When she woke up she saw that she was still wearing her uniform and her brother came back from the basketball training. Now she knew that she was just dreaming. She was so happy that it was just a dream. "From now on," said Katy to her younger brother, "I will never order you to do stuff for me". Her brother was so happy that he started jumping around the house and then he asked "Are you serious?" "Of course I am," said Katy.

The next day Katy woke up and she was acting so nice that she did all her stuff by herself. When she got to school, she saw her new friends coming to her but she stopped them and said, "I'm sorry, but from now on our friendship is over. I want to go with my old friends again." Her new popular friends acted like they didn't even care and they said, "Okay" and left. After a while, Katy saw her old friends and she said, "Sorry". They said it was okay if Katy wouldn't bully them.

Finally, they all became friends again and Katy said to them, "Now I realize what true friends are like and what bullies are like. I should never have changed myself." Her friends cheered her up by saying, "Don't worry, from now on you will be the same old Katy again." They all laughed and cheered like the old good times they had together and walked away happily.
