

My Week without a Mobile Phone

I have a mobile phone and I love it very much. I value it a lot because I worked the whole summer to buy it. It's a Samsung Note II in pearl white color. I can't stay a day without it. I use social networking websites on my phone. But due to my time spent on my mobile phone, I failed in my math test. My mom took away my mobile phone for a week.

Without my phone on the 1st day, I went to school, so it didn't bother me much but when I got home I was very bored, I decided to do my homework. It took me a very long time to finish. Later on, I had dinner then went to sleep. On the 2nd day, I went to school, got back home. I was very tired and bored so I went to sleep. On the 3rd day,

I got back from school. I read a story book. I never read books but after reading the book, I developed interest. On the 4th day, half week to go I came home from school. So I went out with friends to go watch a movie. We watched Thor 2. On the 5th day, last day of school week, it was Friday. I was very happy when I got back home, but my mom felt sick, so I had to bring her to hospital. On Saturday morning means on the 6th day, I had to do the whole housework alone. Mom was very sick. It took me the whole morning and afternoon. At night, my mom was very pleased with my hard work, so she gave me my phone back. So the last day of the week, the 7th day, I spent my day with my phone.

I was very glad but I made some promises. I promised my mom that I would study and sleep on time. I love my phone.