

“You have a choice”

My dear EK students, close your eyes and clear your minds. Try to imagine you are now reading your examination report sheets. When you find you have passed the subjects with good marks, what do you feel? I think you will be very happy because you can be promoted to higher form. On the other hand, you find you have failed in many subjects. Will you be happy? Certainly not, you may repeat in the same form while your friends are promoted. Which do you prefer? Happiness or sadness? Promotion or repeat?

YOU HAVE a choice. *If you want to be happy and promoted, the only way you should do is to work hard now and prepare for your examination wholeheartedly. You must stop playing now and focus on your study. Plan your revision and make a time-table of it. Our school motto is “Carpe Diem” – Seize the Day. Make full use of each day to prepare for the examination. Spend 9 hours a day to do your revision. Then every day can promise you new hopes, new horizons and new opportunities. Act like the football players doing their intense training and practice every day in the preparation for the World Cup matches. The football players want to win every match. You as a student must aim at passing every subject. Although studying hard does not guarantee getting good results, neglecting your study definitely guarantee getting poor results. *If you choose to play and have fun now, it means you have already chosen poor results and misery in the later days.

What do you choose? Which is beneficial to you? Boys and girls, make up your mind --- study hard for your better future.
