

Better Watch Out

It was nearly morning. Mary was in her room playing computer games for 3 hours. Her mom came in and said, "Mary go brush your teeth and go to bed. It's very late!" Mary was very ticked off and just nodded. Mary's eyes were very tired and red. Even her hair was so messy. She finally finished playing computer games. She even forgot to do her homework, but she didn't care at all so she just went to brush her teeth and went to bed at 2 am.

It was 7:30 a.m. and the sun was shining brightly. Mary quickly jumped out of bed and started to take a shower. Then, she quickly changed her clothes and ran downstairs. She just ate two cookies and drank milk. Her mom kissed her goodbye and so did Mary and she started running. The school bus was just 5 blocks away from their house. Mary just couldn't stop running and she carelessly bumped into an old scary lady wearing a black dress with a hood. Mary missed the school bus and looked at the old scary lady and said, "Argh! Don't you have eyes? Or are you just blind!" The old lady sadly and said, "I'm really sorry." Mary replied, "Just forget it! Get lost you Dummy!" The woman didn't like her attitude and whispered, "Hahahaha! Never mind, I'll just do something for you if you wish once." Then the woman disappeared. Mary didn't believe her and she didn't care and went to school on foot.

After school, Mary went home with her friends and they talked about their parents. One of her friends said, "Do you even like your parents?" Mary replied, "Of course not! I just need their money and if I can, I will just wish that my parents are gone!" Mary just went home and her parents kept on complaining about her studies. Mary just smiled and told them that she is fine. Mary wasn't feeling well so she went to her room and looked at the mirror. Suddenly, all her body parts started to bleed. There were cuts all over her body. Mary was so scared and then she suddenly fainted.

The next morning, she woke up and found herself in a hospital. Her mom was crying and said, "I was really shocked to see you on the floor with all your body parts cut into pieces! Why on earth did you do that?" Mary didn't know what happened. The doctor told her parents that she will be staying in hospital for 3 days. It was okay for Mary but she kept looking at her body. Her body was all sewed up. So she went to sleep again.

The next day, when she opened her eyes, she found herself in a mental hospital. She saw the same doctor in the hospital where she was confined. She asked him, "I'm scared. Where the hell are my parents? I need them! And why is my body sewed all together!" The doctor said, "Don't you remember? Your friend saw you go into your house and you started to cut up your parents' hands, chop their heads and you even took out their eyeballs! You sick woman!" Mary was so shocked. She asked about the threads on her body. The doctor said, "Oh those weren't your body parts. They are from an old lady. She told me to tell you that your wish is granted." After that Mary went crazy.
