

My Best Time at SEKSS (WK)

Writing Competition to Celebrate the 25th Anniversary of SEK School Campus

By Altaf Mohammad Faheem Madni (1B)

One of my favourite days at SEKSS was the school picnic. The night before, I felt excited and a little nervous at the same time. The next morning, I woke up feeling happy and quickly got ready. The sun was shining brightly, and on my way to school, I met my friends. We were all talking about how excited we were. Because it was my first picnic as a secondary school student, I felt both nervous and joyful.

When we arrived at Sha Tau Kok Farm, some students mentioned that the place was not as good as before, but I did not mind. I was simply happy to be there with my classmates. We laughed together, shared stories, and enjoyed the fresh air. Seeing everyone gathered made me feel like I was part of a big family.

During the day, I joined many activities. First, I had a barbecue. Then I played football for half an hour, badminton for fifteen minutes, and even dodgeball. I also enjoyed the food from different cultures. My classmates brought Filipino dishes such as lumpia Shanghai and suman, Pakistani food like biryani, naan, and samosa, and Nepali snacks including momos and chatpate. There were also local Hong Kong chips. Sharing these foods made the picnic colourful, exciting, and memorable.

By the end of the day, I felt truly grateful to SEKSS for giving us this chance. The picnic reminded me that unity and inclusiveness still exist, and that every moment can be joyful. It strengthened my respect for different cultures and showed me that our differences help make our community stronger.

The picnic will always be one of my favourite memories at SEKSS. It taught me the importance of friendship, respect, and harmony. I hope the school will continue to organise events like this, so we can celebrate our diversity and create even more happy memories together.
